

Doctors for Road Safety
Media release | 17/09/2022

Doctors for Road Safety (D4RS) keeps noting with great concern the high numbers of road traffic injuries and fatalities involving pedestrians, and especially in recent weeks, elderly persons. It is unacceptable in a civilized society to stand by and watch this.

D4RS calls on the authorities responsible for road safety to take meaningful and effective action and address this intolerable situation, which is leaving so much devastation among our families and community.

A good start is to establish with urgency the long awaited entity which is intended to investigate the root causes of these terrible road traffic accidents and recommend interventions and solutions.
